Funeral celebrations were held at Daley Life Celebration, Swedesboro, with story time and service for Donald Jenkins, 73, formerly of Gloucester City, who passed away.

He was a walking sports encyclopedia, even about sports no one watches. His political views were strong (Damn Liberals). He was cantankerous in a good natured way. He'd instigate fights than step back and watch. He served his nation in the Navy and saw the world. His working years were spent with GE and Honeywell. Later years found him collecting tolls on the NJ Turnpike.

He was always ready for a road trip. His wife, Dottie would say I like to see....and off they'd go. He was a fan of the Browns and Indians but cheered for the Flyers, Phils and Eagles, mostly to satisfy his wife.

Don and Dottie both followed a band. Two girls gave Dottie the thumbs up about the Gloucester native and they would be together from then on.

He is survived by a son, William (Melissa), a daughter, Christy Brown (Chris), step daughters, Melissa Murnane and Kari Blackmore (Jason), a brother, John, a sister, Beverly Jones, eight grand children and three great grandchildren.
